APEC Study Center, City University of Hong Kong announces
The Second All China Economics (ACE) International Conference
December 12 – 14, 2007, Hong Kong

Call for Papers - Submission Deadline: August 24, 2007

Dear Scholars, Researchers, Educators, Policy-makers and Professionals,

The inaugural All China Economics (ACE) International Conference, organized by the APEC Study Center, has turned out to be a productive intellectual exchange platform for scholars from across the world. For this reason, the APEC Study Center is pleased to announce that it will host the Second ACE International Conference on December 12-14, 2007, in the City University of Hong Kong. The Conference now calls for submissions for presentation.

The ACE International Conference aims at bringing together academics, professionals and students from China, APEC members and world economies to share ideas on recent economics, business, humanities and social science studies and research findings. In addition to a series of presentation sessions, internationally renowned speakers will review contemporary issues. Thus we encourage scholars and students from across the world and with different disciplinary backgrounds to participate in the conference, to meet and network with their counterparts from different world regions and discipline areas.

On behalf of the APEC Study Center, I am pleased to invite you to submit an abstract of a paper and/or to organize a presentation session for the Conference.

We extend the conference themes to the all economics-related areas of humanities, social science, business, and international relationship. A list of suggested topics is available at our "ACE Theme" section of the Conference website. Submissions for presentation will go through a rigorous double-blind review process before acceptance. After the Conference, selected papers will be published in the Conference Proceedings.

For details of the ACE International Conference, please visit our website at www.cityu.edu.hk/apec/ace.

Join us and contribute your thoughts and ideas on the development of the world economy. We look forward to welcoming you to the City University of Hong Kong.

Yours faithfully,
Dr. Kui-Wai Li
Conference Director
